Introducing Fota Wildlife Park's New Education, Conservation, and Research Centre: Your Premier Conference and Meeting Destination

Welcome to Fota Wildlife Park's newest venture - a state-of-the-art Education, Conservation, and Research Centre designed to inspire, educate, and facilitate collaboration. Nestled within the stunning surroundings of Fota Wildlife Park, our centre offers a unique venue for conferences, meetings, and events, a space where the corporate can intermingle with conservation, education and research in this newly opened facility, co-funded by the Government via the OPW.

Corporate and Conference Opportunities

The Education, Conservation and Research Centre (ECRC) also provides the park with an extensive indoor space and multi-purpose venue, facilitating the hosting of lectures, conferences as well as company days.

The ECRC provides the following facilities:

- A single storey reception area and exhibition hall
- A lecture theatre with a seated capacity for 260 persons which can be subdivided into two classrooms as well as three additional breakout rooms facilitating a total onsite capacity of 500 delegates/team members at any one time.
- An open-air plaza with fixed canvas canopy to suit all seasons
- One acre of landscaped planting for rare and endangered native plant species.

Sustainably built, sustainability first

Sustainability is at the forefront of the centre's design and its day-to-day operations. The use of passive design elements and sustainable materials have been incorporated throughout the centre:

- The use of solar panels has reduced the centre's energy usage close to net zero, meaning it produces as much electricity as it uses.
- High efficiency lighting and HVAC systems are controlled through a digital control system, which helps save energy.
- The centre is heated by using an energy-efficient air conditioning system.
- Forest Stewardship Council (FSC) certified wood products have been utilised both internally and externally, helping to promote sustainable forest management, water quality protection, and preventing loss of natural forest cover.
- Bat friendly lights.
- Landscaping with species of native plants that require less irrigation and will provide food and shelter for native wildlife.
- Rainwater is collected from the roof and is stored in a 10,000-gallon underground storage tank and is used to flush toilets and urinals.
- External Living Walls – helping to promote biodiversity, air purification and effective insulation
- Use of recycled materials where possible both internally and externally. Compostable delph, crockery, cutlery etc are available with our various on-site catering options.
